

~~grad in drawing class Mrs Fall x~~

Earl:

Enclosed is a sheet I prepared for my etching students, hoping that those leaving would have enough information to set up their own etching workshops. It also summarizes some of our problems that we ran into this semester; I've discussed these with Jim Hayden and I don't think they'll be easy to solve.

The kids have become very excited about etching and it's been very satisfying for me. Very few of the etchings are what you might call finished, and some of the fellowship students were slightly below par but some strong talent is visible. I'm especially impressed with Karl Saundstedt's start. (though he hasn't applied himself as he should have).

The kids at ASU are full of talent and it's been a pleasure working with them. My "problem child" at the start Roland McKay has turned into one of the brightest lights with his strong, and humorous Teddy Roosevelt ~~series~~ paintings. The students have explored many styles.

from abstract expressionism to more academic still lifes to fanciful and humorous ~~and~~ literary pieces - science fiction and the like.

~~Personally I can't disagree more with Pip Wood's statement that the graduates ^{students} are doing the only good work, or even the best work.~~

My purpose this year was to teach and enjoy it - and I have.

Thanks for everything.

Best of luck to you, Marlene,
your children and of course ASU.
